Frequently Asked

Quick answers to what buyers ask us most often.

How long does a typical installation take?

10–30 working days depending on scope. Single-cylinder café fit-outs take a week; full hotel central-bank or industrial bullet-tank installs take 3–4 weeks including PESO paperwork.

What is the cost range for a restaurant kitchen install?

Typical full-kitchen installations range from ₹80,000 to ₹5 lakh based on burner count, pipeline distance and compliance scope. A free site survey gives an itemised quote within 24 hours.

Can you install while my facility is operational?

Yes — we plan phased after-hours work so service continues uninterrupted. Most upgrades avoid any closure days entirely; live-charge commissioning is supervised by our safety officer.

What payment terms do you offer?

30% advance with PO / 40% on material delivery / 30% on commissioning and handover. Bank account details are shared after PO is issued. GST invoice on every milestone.

Do you handle PESO licensing end-to-end?

Yes — we manage statutory paperwork including PESO licence (for storage), local fire NOC and pollution clearance where applicable. Clients only sign authorised forms.

Are AMC contracts mandatory after install?

No, but recommended. AMC includes scheduled inspection, leak testing, regulator service and PESO renewal assistance — keeps insurance and compliance valid year-round.

Which states do you serve?

Headquartered in Sangam Vihar, New Delhi. Serving Delhi NCR, Haryana, Punjab, Chandigarh (UT), Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand. Teams have delivered in Jaipur, Lucknow, Dehradun and other cities across this belt.

Do you provide pressure-test and compliance certificates?

Yes — every install is handed over with pneumatic + hydrostatic + leak-test certificates, material traceability sheets, and a compliance pack ready for fire-audit / NABH / NAAC submission.
